- Model for Teachers Induction and Career Progression
- National reports of Portugal, Slovenia, Greece, Spain, Croatia and Italy on the field trials.
- Comparative report, which summarizes all the national reports on Implementation-Field trials in Portugal, Greece, Slovenia, Croatia and Italy.
- Policy Brief on the field trials: The impact of a Teachers' Induction Programme and a Mentors Capacity Programme on the teaching profession.
- LOOP Project's White paper: Empowering Teachers - Enhancing Teacher Induction through Mentoring activities.

LOOP's 3rd Policy Brief & White Paper are now published!

Policy Brief on the field trials on the impact of a TIP and MCP on the teaching profession, highlights the challenges faced, presents the main conclusions and provides rcommendations for decision-making in the context of the future definition and implementation of these programmes.

The White paper aims to systematise relevant information about the actions carried out in the LOOP project, generating innovation at a political level, thus contributing to the identification of challenges and strategies in the different participating countries.

FINAL CONFERENCE Highlights

160 participants along with several consortium and government representatives explored LOOP's research findings and induction programmes. Dr. Eran Tamir made a keynote speech with invaluable insights on the topic of Educational Policy. Participants had the opportunity to exchange insights and knowledge aimed at advancing induction and mentoring practices for educators across Europe.

PROJECT ACTIVITIES

Final Transnational Project Meeting of LOOP partnership

The final transnational project meeting was convened on February 21st at the University of Lisbon, marking a significant milestone in the LOOP project. Partners gathered to reflect on the project's successful outcomes and their broader impact at both national and European levels. Moreover, the consortium devised a comprehensive sustainability strategy, with several partners reaffirming their dedication to continuing the provision of programs and ensuring their continuous support for integration into national educational policies as fundamental components of teachers' induction.

Additionally, a Policy Matching Workshop was conducted, featuring the participation of national educational authorities from all partner countries. The workshop focused on the introduction of LOOP Project results and strategies for ensuring their ongoing implementation and effectiveness.
